Bob Riedel Memorial Gathering

Have you heard a big buzz about 2012? How about ascension? The harvest? Over the years, the Confederation sources which channel through L/L Research have said a fair amount about these timely topics. Indeed, I have written a report on getting ready for 2012 which is at the printers as we speak. It's called Living the Law of One 101: the Choice.

The Bob Riedel Memorial Gathering we hold here on April 17-19 will use this book as its curriculum text. The topic: Getting Ready for 2012. We will convene at 6:00 pm for an introductory round-robin on Friday night and close after a channeling session beginning at 4:00 pm on Sunday afternoon.

It should be a wonderful time of year for us to hold this Gathering here at Camelot! The tulips will be marching across the stone gardens, and daffodils will be nodding everywhere. The flowering trees will be in their glory and the town will be full of preparations for the Kentucky Derby.

We will be at Camelot on Friday and Saturday, studying, discussing the topics and going out to eat at Bob Riedel's (pictured) favorite restaurants. On Sunday we'll caravan to Avalon Farm for a day of picnicking, playing and more studying. We will also have the closing channeling session there. We'll wander the trails which Bob loved so much and just enjoy the country air.

I think it will be a good mix of study and leisure, intensity and sheer fun. And I hope that you can join us. The schedule has a lot of variety in it – we range from my talks to Q&A and discussion, with good long lunch breaks which leave time for exercise on Anchorage's nature trails and long conversations, and there is free time from supper until bedtime on Saturday.

To reserve your place, just write contact@llresearch.org and Gary will fix you up!

Channeling Intensive Five

On May 28-31, L/L Research will offer its fifth Channeling Intensive. It is open to all those who have previously been through the introductory weekend and studied the material with me. The Channeling Circles (the channeling sessions produced during the intensives) have accumulated to 16 so far, and we will expect to produce four more CC sessions during the upcoming Channeling Intensive Five weekend. The curriculum will continue to be study of the database on channeling from L/L Research's archives.

If this sounds like something which you wish to do, but you have not been through the introductory material with me, do not despair! There is a list for those who wish to enter into the study of channeling here. There are presently two people on that list. When two more are added, we will offer another introductory gathering and after that, the new channeling circle members will be able to come to all future Channeling Intensives. To get your name on that list, write contact@llresearch.org. Gary will get you included.

L/L Research Homecoming 2009

It is early days yet for signing up for Homecoming, which will take place this year from August 28-31. However, we have some plans already in place. We had a wonderful time last year, with each attendee offering a presentation or hosting a discussion on his or her favorite topic. We will do the same in 2009! It is always a huge jolt of recognition to attend Homecoming and realize that, yes, we really ARE coming home in a sense, since the Law of One material attracts people who are very compatible with each other. This year we will be offering a trip up to Avalon Farm on Monday for those who have that extra day to spend here.

I will leave off and let Gary, L/L's admin, take the podium for a moment.

Bring4th.org

On Christmas Day of 2008, L/L Research launched its community-oriented, light-generating, people-connecting, and, um, totally awesome activist website, Bring4th.org.

The response to the website's launch has been overwhelmingly positive. The vast majority of the website's users polled say that Bring4th.org, "Rocks hard". Others polled say that Bring4th, "Rocks like nothing has rocked before".

Some go so far as to proclaim that Bring4th, "Cannot be described in terms of that which "rocks", as it goes far beyond "rocking".

How right they are! The website is truly a perfect place for discussing the Confederation material, connecting with others, inclining your mind in the direction of spiritual evolution, and getting away from work – even while you're at work and should be doing something other than surfing Bring4th.

Since January, Carla has been hosting a live chat each Saturday from 3:00 to 5:00 pm EST in the chat room of www.bring4th.org. There, interested readers can submit their questions to Carla for her response in real time.

If you would like to join her in the chat room, you will need to create an account with Bring4th and enter the chat sometime between 3 and 5 pm eastern on Saturday. Please note that Carla is unavailable for chat on some Saturdays. If you would like to read the archive of her chat transcripts on the Bring4th site, please go to <http://www.bring4th.org/forums/forumdisplay.php?fid=14>.

LLResearch.org

With the launch of Bring4th.org, LLResearch.org became, for the most part, the archive site that its loving creator, Ian, had always dreamed it would be. The Community, Subscriptions, Gaia Meditation, Links, Webcast, and Donate/Volunteer pages all left their home at LLResearch.org and moved over to their new residence at Bring4th.org.

With a few exceptions here and there, LLResearch.org will now exist as a repository of archived material produced by L/L Research. A repository which is always expanding primarily because Carla, in spite of her rather severe limitations, never for a single day stops in her effort to produce that material which inspires all who enjoy L/L Research. Not to mention the unstinting devotion that its webguy, Ian, gives to the site on a daily basis. Not to mention those volunteers across this country, and in some cases, the world, who donate their time and energy to transcribing and other projects. Not to mention those who donate financially and keep this operation moving! And finally, not to mention a wonderful, brilliant, dazzling, radiant, name-an-aircraft-carrier-after-him admin, who occasionally gets things done. <Author pats own back>

Now back to Carla:

We invite you to join in wherever it sounds good to you to do so! Have a grand St. Patrick's Day and hopefully we'll see you soon!

Other Law of One Study Groups

The following a list of study groups forming or already formed around the world along with their contact information. Feel free to join them in study if you find yourself in their neck of the woods!

If you would like to see your group added to this list or removed from this list, please let us know.

The Awakening Project

Ft. Myers, Florida

British Law of One Study Group

Forest Row and Abbots Langley, England Headed by Ian Bond bond.ian@talktalk.net and Pupak Haghighi hoopoesong@gmail.com

“Our group meets once a month, usually on a Sunday, we spend part of our time reading parts of ‘Law of One’ material, or some of the Q’uo transcripts. We then share a meal together, which everyone contributes to. If time allows we might go for a walk if it’s not raining too heavily (it’s England here). In the later part of the day we focus on our personal seeking which begins with a period of silent meditation after which we do a round-robin sharing, then ask what is it that we are seeking, each individually and as a group. We call upon and ask the collective group intelligence to address our seeking and usually the response we get through our collective reflection is profound and often satisfying!”

Maria's Law of One Study Group

Headed by Maria R
mrati77@gmail.com

“Meet via videoconferencing software over the internet every Friday night 9 pm EST. Read through, question and discuss approximately one RA session per meeting. Group just started in November of this year. Current participants have all previously met at recent L/L Research Channeling Intensives.”

The Memphis Law of One Study Group

“The Sanctuary”, 6266 Stage Road, Bartlett, TN 38134
Led by Dean Graves deangraves@bellsouth.net and Carol Crane seacrane@bellsouth.net
(901) 377-6468

“We have public meetings the first Sunday of every month at 2 PM. While the subject matter is centered around the Law of One material, we do diversify the source of our information, using the RA material as the touch stone to put it all into perspective. Individuals with experience in other areas of spiritual study are welcome to share their information with the group. We feel this broadens the understanding of all who attend the meetings.”

Literra Law of One Study Group

Spring Green, WI
Literra@merr.com

“The Spring Green (Wisconsin) Law of One Study Group hosted by Jim and Maxine Pfefferkorn: The monthly meeting (usually for 4 hours on a Sunday afternoon) format starts with a brief meditation, followed by introductions, then opening the floor for discussion of anything attendees wish to explore pertaining to the Law of One, and sometimes Jim will lead us in covering some material from his workbook “The Soul and The Creation, based on the Law of One,” (which is available for $20 plus shipping). We break halfway for some munchies and beverages folks have brought. Socializing during the break is heartwarming and a highlight of the gathering. We reconvene and continue with more discussion and close by gathering in circle and chanting “OM.”

The fellowship has been the most important and fun for the folks who have attended.”

Louisville, KY
Led by Carla Rueckert-McCarty and Jim McCarty contact@llresearch.org

Public meditations are held every Saturday at 8 PM from September through May. First and third Saturdays are held for silent meditations, second and fourth Saturdays for channeling meditations, and on fifth Saturdays no mediation is scheduled. All are welcome!

The Q'uo Discussion Group

Headed by Suzanne Hayes artfulone @hotmail.com and Wayne Smalldridge - wayne116@bellsouth.net
(218) 936-1100 pin is 37525#

“Our group is spread throughout the country from coast to coast. We meet every Tuesday over the phone by calling 1-218-936-1100, and entering in the pin number: 37525#. (Please note: this is a free group. However, your phone company will bill you whatever your particular long distances rates are to place the call. Also, be sure to press the pound sign ‘#’ after entering in the pin number.)

Each Tuesday at 6 pm PACIFIC, Wayne selects a Q'uo channeling from the L/L Research Transcript Library to read aloud to everyone who has called in over the phone. The Thursday following the reading (10 days after the reading), we reconvene by phone at the same number, using the same pin, and have a group discussion about Tuesday's reading. The group discussion is lead by Suzanne who makes notes highlighting the main points of the reading.”

Reading: Tuesdays at 6 pm PST
Discussion: Thursdays at 6pm PST
